Subject: Microsoft Settlement

Do not accept this settlement. If Microsoft has agreed to it the is can't be good for the people. A punishment should be just what it says...a punishment.

Microsoft will continue to dominate the Operating System market and not allow competition to develop and grow. Microsoft has already file lawsuits against the Operating manufacturer Lindows, which is Linux based and will directly compete with Microsoft in the operating system market.

The punishment imposed on Microsoft should significantly change the company in a manner that will not allow them to continue to operate in their current capacity.

This settlement does not impose that type of punishment.

Sincerely,
Jason Greene
